TELEGRAPHIC.

WINNIPEG, November 21.

The Yale football club beat Harvard on Saturday.

The son of Lord Dufferin will shortly marry Flora Davis, of New York.

Premier Whiteway says that the annexation of Newfoundland to Canada is not a live issue.

The Dominion government has appointed the Montreal Bank Canada's financial agent in London.

Haultain expects that the Northwest assembly will be called shortly for the despatch of business.

J. M. Vansykir, near St. Paul, shot his wife and a man named Brown, and blew his own head off.

The minister of interior will speak at the opening of the conservative club, in Winnipeg, next Thursday.

A severe storm occurred in the Western States, demoralizing the telegraph system and doing great damage to life and property. Many were killed in Arkansas.

LOCAL.

F. C. ARMSTRONG has opened a coal drift just above the lower ferry landing in town.

H. C. MITCHELL, special correspondent of the Globe, who visited Edmonton recently has returned east.

A roadway of hay is being laid across the river at the Lower ferry crossing, with a view to increased safety.

Snow began falling on Saturday morning and continued all day. Cutters were brought out during the afternoon.

Ice was running in the river at Fort Saskatchewan on Saturday night and on Sunday morning people crossed on foot.

CROSSING the river in a small boat continued all Friday last, although the ice was running thickly and there was consequently great danger.

THE building formerly occupied by Dr. Wilson as a drug store has been sided up and is being removed to the lot adjoining the BULLETIN office to the east.

THE mail did not get across on Thursday night last, but on Friday morning it was brought across in a small boat, and the outgoing mail taken over in time to catch the train.

THE first crossing of the ice on foot at Edmonton this season was made on Saturday last, opposite Humberstone's mine. This morning M. McCauley's team crossed. The bridge question is now settled until next April.

A NUMBER of commercial travellers added their testimony to the necessity of a bridge at Edmonton when crossing themselves and their sample trunks on Thursday afternoon last in a small boat amidst floating ice, in order to catch Friday's out train.

AT a meeting of the Edmonton public school board last week, Mr. Campbell, of Manitoba College, Winnipeg, was engaged as principal for the coming year at $1,000 salary. Misses Osborne and Dulmage, teachers of the junior and primary departments, were re-engaged.

Two special freight trains were run out from Calgary to Red Deer last week, to relieve the blockade of Edmonton freight in the yards at Calgary. Passengers say that loaded cars are standing on the sidetracks all along the line, awaiting the slackening of the rush to be brought through.

ABOUT two inches of snow on the ground. Sleighs slip freely.

CURLING meeting to-night in the sheriff's office. Important business.

THE Bishop of Saskatchewan and Calgary will be in Edmonton for Sunday, the 27th inst. There will be a confirmation service while he is here.

H. W. White has sold out his third interest in a cattle ranch at Limestone lake; below Fort Saskatchewan, to Johnston & McGall, his partners, and is going east for the winter to bring in a band of mares.

JOHN ECCLES, of Stony Plain had 25 bushels of Ladoga wheat to the acre on breaking of last year, which was disc harrowed in the spring. His oats yielded 60 bushels. Crops on the Plain are yielding better than was expected. Mr. Eccles is supplying ten bushels of Ladoga to the C.P.R. land department for show purposes.

ICE formed on Wednesday night at the point below Fraser & Co's mill, and although it did not extend half across the river boys were skating on it on Thursday. On Friday night the ice extended out as far again. On Saturday morning it extended clear across and up the river to Ross' bar. Above that to Ross point was still open water.

THE son of P. O. Skaalent, who was murdered on November 11th, was expected to arrive on Thursday's train to take away the body of his father and claim his belongings. Instead, however, he telegraphed from Winnipeg to Inspector Piercy, asking for the body to be forwarded to him. He was informed that he must come and identify the body before it could be given up.

WINNIPEG TRIBUNE: On Friday a large party of settlers passed through the city from Stevens Point, Wis., en route to Edmonton. Immigration agent Montague was in charge of the settlers. C. S. Heltgon, of Brown's County, S. D., also passed through the city on Friday on his way to Edmonton, where he has taken up land. He brought 175 head of cattle, which he had over the line, including the effects.

HUGH MCKAY's wagon, which was abandoned in the rapids opposite the H. B. Fort, on Tuesday afternoon, was fished out by John Graham, on Wednesday. The only piece missing was the front bolster. Graham had to dive in the water amongst the floating ice in order to fasten a rope to the wagon with which to pull it out. It was a very risky act, as any one who has seen the Saskatchewan will readily understand.

GENERAL NEWS.

A young man, named McLennan, is ill of small pox in Vancouver. He came recently from Seattle.

The Free Press contains a rumor that Leo Gaetz has sold out his interest in Red Deer town site to the C. P. R.

An electric railway, over which passenger cars will run at 125 miles an hour, is projected between Vienna and Buda-Pesth, in Austria.

Free Press: "The great objection to the national Policy is that it tends to make the richer at the expense of the poor, and to exhibit a hundred instances or so of the truth of this is not to increase its popularity. The millionaires who were directly the fruits of the protected monopolies and conditions of the United States were the hardest nuts which the Republican party were called upon to crack during the campaign that had just closed. We want to distribute wealth, not concentrate it. We want a policy that will give the poor man an equal chance with the rich, according to his means and opportunities."

Calgary Herald: Mr. T. G. Pearce, who brought the Parry Sound colony successfully to the Beaver Hills country, back of Fort Saskatchewan, came to Calgary on Friday's train. He is at present arranging to locate three colonies, one from Parry Sound, one from Idaho and one from Washington, somewhere in the country in the neighborhood of the C. & E. from Olds to Edmonton. He will start in prospecting for the best locations through this stretch of country at once. Mr. Pearce is in receipt of letters from farmers, whom he has recently guided through the Edmonton district. One expects to bring about thirty families from his county in Idaho next spring to settle in the Beaver Hills. Another from Washington states that ten families, all with stock, are anxious to come in. There seems to be every indication that next year will witness a regular rush of settlement into Northern Alberta from the States.

VETERINARY.

East of the Red River, in Manitoba, the wheat yield averages about fifteen bushels to the acre. Some fields went 25; oats 35; barley 27.

Stansbury, sculling champion of the world, was defeated on the Parramatta river, Australia, by Christian Neilson, who was given ten seconds start.

Carberry's rate of taxation is 26½ mills on the dollar. It is made up as follows: General rate, 14 mills; county rate, 1 mill; debenture rate ½ mill; general school tax, 3 mills; special school tax, 9 mills.

A writer in the Lake Magazine says that farm land in Southern Maryland—the soil wonderfully rich and the climate without a drawback, five million people within a radius of 400 miles—is only worth ten to twelve dollars an acre.

The Regina Leader expects that the Northwest assembly will be called together at an early date, and wonders where the sessional indemnity for the members is to come from. That is a question for his honor the lieutenant-governor, whose ill-considered and unnecessary prorogation makes an extra session necessary.

Lawrence Vankoughnet, deputy superintendent of Indian affairs, is to be superannuated on account of ill-health. Mr. Fred. White comptroller of the Northwest mounted police, will be his successor. It is also rumored that Mr. Burgess, of the interior department, will shortly leave, and Mr. White will have charge of both offices.

Winnipeg Tribune: The pronouncement of the electorate of Wallace will almost certainly terminate the deadlock in the Northwest; the Haultain administration will resume office and, with that event, responsible government will be restored; members of the legislature will understand also that the people do not believe in representatives overturning a government, wasting a legislative session, and playing into the hands of clerical and bureaucratic Bourbons, all for no weightier reason than that the premier is not sufficiently suave in manner to suit their personal inclinations. There should now be a distinct understanding that men assembled on behalf of the people for the grave and serious business of legislation are expected to acquit themselves as men with some sense of their responsibility.

LAW VS. JUSTICE.

Report has it that legal proceedings may be taken against the men who caused the death of the murderer Micklson at Red Deer while attempting to effect his arrest. It is difficult to see what quirk of law could be brought into play to be used as an engine of spite in this case, but as almost anything is possible, it is only right to remark that any such attempt is to be deplored, in the interests of the security of life and property in this country, and for the sake of its good name. There is not a man or woman or even child old enough to realize danger, in all the country but will sleep more quietly for knowing that the power of doing harm is forever taken from Micklson. There is not a traveller who comes or goes over our railways but will feel safer under the protection of our laws for knowing that a robber and murderer met justice so quickly. And there is not a man disposed to commit a crime but will now count in the cost the fact that he not only has to reckon with the regular officers of the law, but that justice is at his heels in the person of every law abiding citizen. The certainty of punishment is the greatest deterrent of crime. And this latter knowledge, which so greatly decreases the chance of the criminals escape, will do more to deter from crime than all other influences combined. The men who so effectively arrested Micklson were discharging a duty which they owed to themselves and friends under the highest law, that of self preservation. Just as they would be discharging a like duty by ridding the world of a mad dog, for no one can say that a murderously inclined human being, as Micklson was, is not ten times more dangerous to humanity than a mad dog. It is fairly to be presumed that no one objects to these citizens attempting to arrest the murderer, or to any citizens attempting to arrest any criminal, especially after the authorities offering a reward to induce such an attempt. Admitting that the citizens were justified in attempting to make the arrest, after having been fired upon by the murderer, would they have been justified in further risking their lives for the sake of saving his? Would not such an action have been criminal folly, for which, had they suffered injury, they would have received no sympathy. Or having the murderer within reach would they have been justified in permitting him to escape for the time on the chance of his being caught again. This would have been wrong. Too many murderers have gone free in the Northwest during the past five years to make it advisable to take any such chances. The men who shot down Micklson did the right thing at the right time. They acted in the best interests of society and measured out substantial justice. If they are molested for their action, under color of law or otherwise, it will tend to prevent other citizens from acting in like manner in like cases, and by so much will tend to assist in the escape of future criminals and therefore to the encouragement of crime. The principles of justice are eternal and divine. The law is the human agency whereby these divine principles are given effect. If there is any possible clash between the divine principle and the human agency, inasmuch as the former cannot be changed, the latter should give way.

REPORT OF THE SHOOTING.

Inspector Piercy returned from Red Deer, where he was attending the inquest on the murderer Micklson, on Thursday's train. The following account of the shooting of Micklson is as he gathered from the evidence given at the inquest. Micklson was first seen about 4 miles north of Red Deer by Mrs. Wm. Stent, who recognized him from the description, and informed her husband, Wm. Stent. Stent took a shot gun and followed him, ordering him to halt, which he refused to do. Stent called on his brother and Edward Plumb. The latter came on horseback, took Stent's gun and rode up near the man and ordered him to throw up his hands. Micklson offered Plumb $10 and then $100 if he would let him go. When Plumb refused he drew a revolver and fired at him. By this time the news had spread that the murderer was discovered, and Geo. Bell, Wm. Bell R. Armstrong, Fred Ray, John Jones, and several others gave chase. Micklson fired several shots at his pursuers, and was fired at by Geo. Bell, Wm. Bell, Wm. Stent, Edward Plumb and Fred Ray. He continued running, and when about one and a-half miles from Red Deer, ran into an open field, where he was shot dead. The fatal shot is supposed to have been fired by Wm. Bell. Besides the fatal bullet wound, a charge of shot had struck him in the back, but had not penetrated deeply. No slung shot was found on him, as reported, and his knife was only a common jack knife. He had a revolver and a few cartridges, and the money supposed to have been taken from Skaalent in a tobacco bag. The postmortem showed that on his way down from Edmonton he had been subsisting chiefly on wheat. He had several pockets full of wheat, when he was killed. In one of his pockets also was a slip of paper with a scripture text written on it. At Macdonnell's store and in conversation with Plumb he spoke good English, while on the train he pretended to be unable to speak English. He was buried in the field in which he was killed, on the farm of F. E. Wilkins, M. L. A. Three hundred dollars of the money found on him is held to be claimed by the son of Skaalent, as that is the amount he said his father had. The balance was used to pay for the burial of Micklson. Over $100 of the money was in gold.

LOCAL.

BEAVER LAKE public school district has been granted power to borrow $300 to build a school house.

T. G. PEARCE, conductor of the Parry Sound colony of last spring, has an excellent letter in the Western World for October, descriptive of the Saskatchewan country around Edmonton.

MAJOR THOMAS BRATTE, of London, Ont., on returning to his home recently from a trip through the Territories, being interviewed, said: "The Edmonton district is fast filling up. Many settlers from Dakota have gone there this season. From all accounts I obtained through talking with the settlers, this district is really the garden of Canada, and leaves Ontario in the shade. Of course, it is new as yet, but it seems to be a most beautiful spot."

A very interesting account of a trip from Ontario to Edmonton, written by L. P. Snyder, of Hamilton, appears in the Western World for October. Mr. Snyder observed closely and recorded accurately. His letter is one of the best accounts of the country that has yet been published. Its tone of appreciation is particularly pleasing. He left Toronto on September 6th and returned on the 20th of the same month, having travelled 4,400 miles.

H. C. MITCHELL, of the Toronto Globe, told the Free Press that in visiting the Parry Sound settlement, near Fort Saskatchewan, he came across two very remarkable yields of grain; in one case two and a half bushels of wheat had been sown on an acre and three-quarters, from which eighty-eight bushels had been threshed; in another a yield of 130 bushels of oats had been realized from an acre and a-half, from which also the farmer's team had been fed all summer. These are tall signals.

The following are the rates on immigrants' effects from Spokane Falls to Edmonton, which were paid by the recent arrivals from Eastern Washington : Spokane Falls to Northport on the Columbia river, 130 miles; over the Spokane & Northern railway, $70 a car; Northport to Revelstoke, by steamer on the Columbia river, 200 miles, $90 a car; Revelstoke to Edmonton, on the C. P. R. and C. & E., $52 a car. Fares were : Spokane to Revelstoke, $13; Revelstoke to Edmonton, $10. The trip has usually taken about seven days, owing to the layovers at Northport, Revelstoke and Calgary.

GENERAL NEWS.

Insinger's total majority over McNutt, in Wallace, was 145.

Direct train service, from Winnipeg to Estevan, will commence on December 1st.

Insinger's majority over McNutt, in the Wallace election, was 170 with Pelly to hear from.

Free Press: Dr. Lafferty, of Calgary, who has been in Europe for nearly a year, recuperating his health, which has failed greatly, has arrived here en route home. The doctor is looking very well and says his trip has benefited him greatly.

Free Press: In addition to a charge of 1½c per hundred pounds that the railways of Canada have decided to charge on and after November 14, for delivering and collecting freight in first, second, third and fourth classes, they will also make a charge of one cent per hundred pounds on freight in fifth class.

At a union convention of the teachers of the Central Assiniboia, Regina and Moose Jaw districts, held at Regina, November 4th, the following resolution was unanimously adopted: "Whereas it is probable that some change will, in the near future, be made in the school ordinance, by which the board of Education will be abolished; be it therefore resolved that, in the opinion of this convention, it is desirable that the direction of educational affairs be placed under the supervision of a skilled educationist, or of a board or council composed of men having a practical acquaintance with the working of schools."

Free Press: "The election in Wallace on Saturday breaks the deadlock in the Territories, and now matters should proceed in the usual course. Mr. Cayley was given his opportunity and the chance has gone against him. The constituency recently represented by a colleague of his own, a member of the 'Cabinet,' of which he is Premier, has decided against him by an overwhelming majority. The Haultain party has now a clear majority of the legislature, and if Mr. Cayley will take early occasion to hand in his resignation as leader of the administration, he will square himself with the people and conform to constitutional usage."

Jasper—A. S. Bown, J. G. Clelland, J. Adams, Calgary.

Queen's—Leonard Harrison, Revelstoke; H. F. Mitchellson, Egg Lake; Joseph Laurence, Joseph River, Silver Lake, Minnesota; A. Cornay, J. Lemire, Plato, Minnesota.

B. C. MARK & QUOTATIONS.—There is a feeling of uneasiness among wholesale butchers that the movement to establish independent market stalls of interior stock men, combined with the recent prohibition of Canadian live stock in England, will cause a depression in the meat trade and lower prices. Quotations, however, so far remain unchanged. Live steers $12 quoted at 4c.; cows, 3c.; dressed beef, 7c.; lambs, $4.50 apiece; dressed, $3.; sheep, 5c.; mutton, 12c.; hogs, 8c.; pork, 11c.; calves, veal, 11c.

The candidates for the nomination of the conservative convention, recently held in Grenfell, East Assiniboia, were W. W. McDonald, Hawkes, Patterson, Richardson, Bell, Leacock and Thorburn. Leacock retired before the balloting. Hawkes retired at the third ballot. Richardson and Patterson retired after the fifth ballot. The contest was mainly between McDonald and Bell, but Thorburn stayed with them to the last ballot.

The Bank of Montreal's semi-annual statement issued to the shareholders shows that the earnings for the six months ending October 21st amounted to $604,144, or about 5.04 per cent. corresponding half year of 1892 amounted to $606,642, or 5.50 per cent. on the paid up capital. The statement caused disappointment but is regarded in financial circles as fairly satisfactory.

Estevan coal sells at Morden, Manitoba, at $5.25 a ton, and gives good satisfaction.
